

You are my first love

(von Francesca Buri / www.francescaburi.ch)

The earth is my mother who carries me so gently, the earth is my mother and I love her so deep

And the sky is my father who protects me from above, the sky is my father and he has my love

But you are my first love, with you I feel desired, you are my true love, you're the light of my life

You are my first love, with you I feel desired, you are my true love, you're the light of my life

The trees are my comfort, as they stand so still and strong, the trees are my comfort, giving me the feeling of home

The flowers enchant me with their beauty and their grace, the flowers enchant me, are more beautiful than any word could tell

Between doubt and fear and desperation about what happens to our world

You're the light that gives me inspiration, trust and hope

Between doubt and fear and desperation about what happens to our world

You're the light that gives me inspiration, trust and hope

You are, yes you are, you are my first love, you are you are you are my true love, You are, you are you are my first love, you are, you are you are my true love....

You are my first love, with you I feel desired, you are my true love, you're the light of my life

And you are my first love, with you I feel desired, you are my true love, you're the light of my life

You are my first love, with you I feel desired, you are my true love, you're the light of my life